TRIBUTE TO VAN SWEARINGEN AS A MAN BY H. L. ROBINSON.

Prohibition Nominee Speaks Eloquent of His Ability and Fitness for Bench and of Their Friendship

AT MEETING HERE LAST NIGHT.

Casino Theatre Comfortably Well Filled
But Large Majority of Those Present Came From Curiosity—Prohibition Appeals Made Under Mask
of Citizenship.

Mr. Van Swearingen, my opponent, and I were boys together. We lived on adjoining farms. We went to the same school. We were friends and companions in boyhood amusements and play. We swung in the same old wooden swings. We grew up friends and today are friends. As a man I admire him. His legal ability and qualifications for the office he seeks I do not question. In his profession he has always been honorable, courteous and fair with me. There is nothing in his life as a man I know that has not been right and clean. The persons or the newspapers that say I have said or contended or written or published anything but what is true and correct, I do not believe. It is his politics I don't like. Harold L. Robinson in speech at last night's Prohibition meeting.

The water wagon rolled into town last evening and rolled right out again. It came on rubber tires. Very few people knew it was in our midst. If the enthusiasm in evidence in Connellville last night for the Prohibition-Citizens' movement is a sample of what is being boasted of in other parts of the county it will be pretty clearly demonstrated next Tuesday that the cold water advertisements have been blowing soap bubbles.

When the meeting opened at the old Casino Theatre there were less than 100 people in the audience. In fact by actual count there were just 77, and of these there were seven or eight ladies, three or four newspaper men and at least 100 rockribbed Republicans and Democrats whose political views are known. Within 15 minutes after the meeting started strangers began dropping into the theatre and in half an hour it was better than half filled. A perfectly fair estimate of the out-and-out sympathizers with the Prohibition movement present would not reach 100. The others were there out of curiosity to hear what the speakers had to say. Men who are working as hard as the people know how for the whole Republican ticket, and many who are strong supporters of the Democratic ticket, were scattered throughout the audience. They went to the Prohibition meeting as they would go to circus. They expected some frank political speeches. They were disappointed. What the speakers said has been told and retold for months. Half the audience went home before the close of the meeting. What remained there was from the little circle of the Prohibition faithful grouped in front of the stage. The theatre was fairly cold, a fact that didn't help the enthusiasm in any. Despite the fact that the audience was made up largely of sympathizers of the Republican and Democratic tickets, their regular nominees it was most respectful toward the speakers.

On the stage were seated Dr. J. W. Jorgensen, D. K. Artman, Albert Goodin, J. L. Patterson, O. B. Purinton, Dr. J. J. Page, Rev. J. B. Risk, L. Scott Dunn, William H. Martin, E. S. Dillinger, Harvey Seaton and Joseph Cochran. Dr. K. Artman chaired the meeting. He was unanimously chosen. Mr. Jorgensen briefly stated the object of the meeting and called on O. B. Purinton, citizen candidate for sheriff, as the first speaker. Mr. Purinton graciously turned the speaking over to "Bill Nye" Martin, candidate for District Attorney on the Prohibition-Citizens ticket. "Bill" was so earnest in his manner that his oratory frequently dropped to a whisper and it was impossible to hear what he said. The burden of his speech, however, was the money spent at the June primary and the alleged "general" vote of the county. Mr. Purinton said the Merchants' Association paid the bill, just what was asked by Messrs. Robinson & McKean and expressed the belief that the people of Connellville were not so stupid as to matter needed no further explanation.

Chairman E. W. Horner read a communication from the M. E. Townsend published in The Courier a day or two ago, which called attention to the large fee paid Attorneys Robinson and McKean for their services in treating the Young bridge. Mr. Horner said the Merchants' Association paid the bill, just what was asked by Messrs. Robinson & McKean and expressed the belief that the people of Connellville were not so stupid as to matter needed no further explanation.

Kick on Telephone Rates. The Washington board of trade and the Retail Merchants' association, backed by physicians and corporations, have begun a crusade against what are termed exorbitant telephone rates. An effort is being made to have all patrons of the Bell Telephone company demand a lower rate or have their telephone removed.

nation and introduced Harold L. Robinson as a great leader in a great cause, a Moses who had come to lead the Prohibition party out of the wilderness. Mr. Robinson denied the soft impeachment. He said a good many nice things had been said about him lately, but they have not swelled his head nor put him in the Moses class. Then he launched into an eloquent tribute to J. Q. Van Swearingen, nominee on the Republican and Democratic tickets for Common Pleas court judge. Mr. Robinson said: "Mr. Van Swearingen, my opponent, and I were boys together. We lived on adjoining farms; we went to the same school. We were friends and companions in boyhood amusements and play. We swung in the same old wooden swings. We grew up friends and today are friends. As a man I admire him. His legal ability and qualifications for the office he seeks I do not question. In his profession he has always been honorable, courteous and fair with me. There is nothing in his life as a man I know that has not been right and clean. The persons or the newspapers that say I have said or contended or written or published anything but what is true and correct, I do not believe. It is his politics I don't like."

Mr. Robinson then launched into a discussion of the editorial discussion of the recent primary and the present campaign in Fayette county by H. P. Snyder, editor of The Courier. In a very large measure Mr. Robinson said he agreed with Mr. Snyder. He said his arguments were logical and correct. He incorporated one of them as a part of his speech. Then he drew a parallel with recent editorial utterances of The Courier and attempted to show that they were not consistent. From that he drifted on to newspaper changes in Fayette county in the last eighteen months and claimed there was but one, The People's Tribune, that had not been bought up. At that he admitted a half interest in it had been purchased but later enough money was raised by the Prohibitionists to buy it back to help out in the present campaign. The balance of Mr. Robinson's speech, a very clever one by the way, was devoted to an appeal to Democrats and Republicans to listen to and believe the campaign chatter that is being wafted about, and under the mask of a reform movement win a victory for prohibition.

Dr. J. D. Sage, a prominent worker in the Anti-Saloon League, was to the meeting what "Foghorn" John Row of Philadelphia is to a Democratic meeting. He awoke the audience with the words: "What remained there was from the little circle of the Prohibition faithful grouped in front of the stage. The theatre was fairly cold, a fact that didn't help the enthusiasm in any. Despite the fact that the audience was made up largely of sympathizers of the Republican and Democratic tickets, their regular nominees it was most respectful toward the speakers."

Page devoted most of his time to a denunciation of the alleged use of hostile and hostile in the campaign, concluded by saying if these elements were left out of Tuesday's election, Robinson's election would be assured. He said there are some people in the county who think Robinson will be elected anyway.

Rev. J. B. Risk, formerly of Connellville, but now pastor of the Uniontown Methodist, Episcopal church, made a short address along the same lines followed by Dr. Page. He urged that good citizens vote the Prohibition-Citizens' ticket.

Still Alarming. Condition of President John Mitchell of Mine Workers. LA SALLE, Ill., Nov. 1.—(Special.) Secretary Wilson and Vice President Lewis of the United Mine Workers are today visiting President John Mitchell of that organization. It has become necessary to have a third operation performed on him for an abscess in his chest. His condition is again causing alarm.

HOSPITAL REPORT.

Number of Patients Received and Treated Last Week.
Miss Mabel Craft superintendent of the Cottage State hospital this morning gave out the following report for the month of October: Number of patients at the beginning of the month, 22; number admitted, 30; number discharged, 28; died, 9; number remaining, 21, out patients treated, 11. The majority of the patients who died were in a dying condition when they were admitted to the hospital. No new patients have been admitted to the hospital for several days.

THE UNION SERVICES

On Thanksgiving Day Are to be Held at the Christian Church.

REV. J. J. HUSTON TO SPEAK.

Committee Appointed to Make Arrangements for Ministerial Banquet on November 14—Association Adopts Sabbath Observance Resolutions.

A long and interesting meeting of the Ministerial Association was held yesterday afternoon. It was decided to hold the annual union Thanksgiving services in the Christian Church. Rev. J. J. Huston is to preach the sermon. This is the first time Rev. Huston has been selected to make the address. It is an annual custom to hold union services on the morning of Thanksgiving Day in one of the local churches. Last year the services were held in the United Presbyterian Church. The Thanksgiving offering will be taken to the relief department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. A committee, composed of Rev. E. A. B. Piquet, Rev. E. B. Angstadt and Rev. J. L. Funk, were appointed to make arrangements for a ministerial banquet. It is probable that this will be held November 14, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Ministers and their wives will attend. The association unanimously adopted the resolutions submitted by the committee on Sabbath Observance. These resolutions contain a hearty endorsement of the work of the Sabbath Observance Association. In the absence of Secretary C. M. Watson, Rev. E. A. B. Piquet filled that position temporarily.

BANK FAILS.

Long Established Virginia Institution Goes to the Wall—Tennedy Declares Dividend.

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The announcement of the destination of the regular Pennsylvania dividend was followed by an advance of one and one-half points in that stock at the opening of the market this morning. The general list, however, showed a general decline. The market was not very active.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Nov. 1.—The People's Bank failed today. It was established in 1855 and had a paid up capital stock of $250,000. It is estimated that its deposits amount to $470,000.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange remained closed today. No announcement was made other than it would remain closed.

HEARING TOMORROW.

H. R. Barber Will Be Arraigned in Richmond Court Unless Case Is Postponed.

H. R. Barber, in jail in Richmond for embezzling the funds of the R. L. Barnes Safe & Lock Company, will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow. Whether or not his Connellville wife will go there to testify against him is yet problematical. Mrs. Barber this morning declined to make any statement in regard to the matter.

"If I do go, no one shall know it," was all she would say. It was intimated, however, that the hearing might be postponed.

POPE'S NEPHEW SHOT.

Pontiff Inconsolable Over the Tragedy at Monza.

GOT $250 IN CASH.

Two Boys Accused of Robbing the Everson House on Thursday.

HAD BEEN IN TROUBLE BEFORE.

Went to Cupboard in Proprietor's Room and Made a Rich Haul in Paper and Silver Money.

Scottdale, Nov. 1.—George Pliska, proprietor of the Everson House at Scottdale, was robbed of $250 which was taken from a tin box in the cupboard in his room, at about 6:30 on Thursday evening. The boys, who made the haul, and notified the police, in Scottdale, who in turn notified Greensburg and Connellville. The boys, who were about 15 years old, were seen by the proprietor in the streets, but they disappeared a short time afterward, and just before the alarm was sent out. It was believed that they headed for McKeesport where they have relatives.

Mr. Pliska described the one boy as being about aged 14, wearing a grey short pants suit and a cap, and the other he could not describe further or that he wore a striped hat. The nephew a few weeks ago it is alleged, took a bank that belonged to Mr. Pliska's children, and broke it open with a hammer and secured about $5 by this doubtful method of obtaining money. At that time he was forbidden to enter the house. The first thing that caused suspicion was the fact that the water closet was locked on Thursday evening, and Mr. Pliska had to go out on the roof to get into the closet. They he found that someone had come in the opposite direction and locked the door behind them. A trip to his room showed that the tin box had been taken from his cupboard by someone that was equal to a lock. Inquiry among those about the house resulted in these people stating that at supper time, when everyone was busy the Pliska boy had been seen to enter the house and get up stairs and that no one had seen him come down again. This with the episode of the broken savings bank and the fact that the boy had been working for a forged check on one of the Scottdale banks was sufficient grounds, Mr. Pliska thought, to accuse him and his companion. The $250 was in $20, $10, $5 and $1 bills, silver dollars, half-dollars, quarters, dimes and nickels. There were also some checks belonging to Mr. Pliska and those were also taken.

PITTSBURGH FIRE.

Loss to Shannon Building is Estimated at $10,000—Started in the Top Floor.

United Press Telegram.
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—Panic other than financial occurred in Pittsburgh's Wall Street today when fire broke out on the top or sixth floor of the Shannon building, 326 Fourth avenue. The fire started in the top of the building, which was a four-story building, and spread to the fourth and fifth stories.

The fire was discovered by an elevator boy who he was investigating his lift. Somehow the elevator started down, and the boy was with a crash which alarmed the occupants of the building.

There was great excitement in other buildings in the neighborhood. The loss is estimated at $10,000. The firms were J. W. Salzer, Langhin, Green & Co., B. T. Cable & Co., J. H. Mitchell and Architect A. C. Connis.

CHILD POISONED.

Baby of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Garlitz, Confused, Got Held of Carbolic Acid.

Special to The Courier.
CONFUSION, Oct. 31.—A distressing accident happened in Confusion this morning, when a child of Steven Garlitz in some manner got hold of a bottle containing carbolic acid and drank part of its contents. It was seen that the mother was cleaning a cupboard and placed the bottle containing the acid temporarily on the table.

The child, a boy of 12 months, toddled over to where she had placed the bottle, and while her back was turned, drank the deadly poison. At the present writing the doctors do not give much hope for his recovery. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

DESERVES A MEDAL.

Officer Lowe Sticks to Duty in Spite of His New Boy.

Officer John A. Lowe stuck to duty last night under rather trying circumstances. About 6:30 he was notified that a big bounding baby boy, his second son and heir, had arrived. In spite of a great desire to get out and celebrate the great event, Lowe stuck to his post of duty and did excellent patrol work in that part of town best known as the "swamp". They are bounding Lowe for a hero medal now.

MANY SOCIAL EVENTS

Hallowe'en Marked by Large Number of Dances and Parties.

FIRST OF CINDERELLA DANCES.

Functions Ranged From Full Dress Dance Affairs to Tacky Parties, Masques and Taffy Pulls—Some of the Events.

Hallowe'en was marked by scores of parties, dances and other social functions. They ranged from full dress affair dances to tacky parties, masques and taffy pulls. There were also many of the old-fashioned family gatherings, where the usual games were played amid much merriment.

Cinderella Dance. A delightful social event of last evening was the first of a series of informal Cinderella dances given by a number of young ladies of town in Markell hall. Dancing commenced at 8 o'clock and was kept up until after midnight. Music was furnished by Kierle's orchestra and light refreshments were served throughout the evening. Twenty-five couples were in attendance. The out of town guests present were Miss Edna Piersol of near Bellefonte, Miss Mary Whetzel of Smithfield and the Messrs. Lee of West Haven.

A Six O'Clock Dinner. Handsomely appointed in every detail was a six o'clock dinner given last evening by Mrs. J. W. Dixon at her home on East Main street in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. B. Piquet and Miss Adele Piquet of Chicago. Covers were laid for 14. A basket of pink carnations interspersed with asparagus was used in forming the attractive center piece.

Miss Virginia Herbert was tendered a very pleasant surprise party last evening at her home on Third street, New Haven. The surprise gathering was in the form of a Hallowe'en party and was arranged by Miss Frances Landenberg and Miss Frances Rhodes. Games and music were indulged in until a late hour, when a dainty luncheon was served. Several musical selections were rendered by Miss Landenberg.

A Tacky Dance. Large and enjoyable was a tacky dance given last evening by the Messrs. J. and N. D. Donnelly at their home on East Green street. The guests numbered about 38 and all came in unique costumes. All the appointments were in keeping with Hallowe'en and the evening was greatly enjoyed by those present. All the old-fashioned games were indulged in until about midnight when refreshments consisting of ginger bread, pumpkin pie and cider were served.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Miss Flora McFarland, Miss Flo Moyle and Mr. Porter of Scottdale, Mr. Riffe of McClellandtown, Miss Beryl Newcomer and Miss Chaud Jones of Leetown.

Bowling Circle Club as Guests. Mrs. Harry Ford entertained the T. K. Bowling Circle last evening at her home on Eighth street, Greenwood. A large number of members were present and the evening was spent in party after which the remainder of the evening was spent in a very enjoyable social manner. A pretty appetizing luncheon was served at a late hour.

Entertained Douglas Glass. The members of the Douglas Business College were pleasantly entertained last evening by Miss Clara Adams, a member of the class, at her home on Green street, about 35 guests being in attendance. The decorations were the usual Hallowe'en and the evening was spent in the usual Hallowe'en games. The decorations were artistic arrangements of pumpkins and corn stalks. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Taffy Pulling. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Adams on Highland avenue was the scene of a delightful Hallowe'en party last evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adams for a number of their friends. The evening was spent in pulling taffy and in various Hallowe'en festivities and all present spent a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Bi-Town's Dance. One of the largest and most enjoyable social events of Hallowe'en was a tacky dance held last evening in

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS IN ORDER ABOUT TOWN LAST NIGHT.

Complaints Numerous of Damage to Property, but No Arrests Have Yet Been Made by Police.

OFFENDERS WERE TOO WISE

And Did These Tricks When the Officers Were on Other Beats—Boys and Girls Paraded the Town in Grotesque Costumes of All Kinds.

Hallowe'en pranks were in order last night and in some cases the rights of property owners were not entirely observed. Pranks suffered for the most part and some of these were badly damaged. In all parts of town portions of fences were torn down, gates taken off their hinges and in some instances badly smashed. Chief Rotter was kept busy all morning answering telephone calls relative to the damage done during the night. Not a single arrest was made by the police for infraction of the borough ordinances on the part of the merry-makers. All the damage was done when the officers were not in the vicinity. A few of the celebrations were warned to calm down and this had a good effect.

Old residents say it has been many years since so many misadventures were out. These were dressed in grotesque costumes of all kinds and descriptions. The Gold Dust Twins, Hooty Hoots, gnomes, tramps, combs and hickamaths and burlesques on all characters were in evidence. Clowns there, were in profusion, while not a few, unable to wear costumes to match, were content with false faces which successfully prevented recognition. Both sexes were well represented. Quite a number of girls went through the experience of parading the streets in long trousers. These were not tolerated, for the police had orders not to interfere with harmless fun. Over in New Haven the damage done was considerable. A number of signs were overturned and one of them, belonging to the firm of Boyd & Griffin, was dumped into the river and completely ruined. Contrary to the usual custom, there were few outhouses overturned. The only reason of a depredation of this nature came to the notice of the police was the Newcomer property on Francis avenue, where several shacks were dumped over a hill. On Connellville the front of the old suspension bridge was hauled across the street, effectively blocking all traffic on the main thoroughfare of Dutch Bottom.

Around the Gibson school and at South Connellville the township boys had a rare time of it and turned that neighborhood topsy-turvy. Complaints of damaged property were comparatively few, however, although the local spirits anticipate some malicious mischief in form of pranks when property owners got a line on who committed the depredations.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Conference is Held Yesterday at United Presbyterian Church Before Good Audience.

A Sabbath School Conference was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the United Presbyterian church. The attendance was considered good under the circumstances. At the afternoon session County Secretary B. S. Puryear, Rev. E. P. Kern of Van Hookville and Rev. C. M. Watson of Connellville made addresses, after which a discussion of various questions took place.

In the evening Secretary Puryear and Miss Amy J. Porter spoke on Sunday school work. Those interested in this work were urged to attend the Fayette County School of Methods, which will be in session at the Christian church at Uniontown November 4, 5 and 6.

INJUNCTION ISSUE

And Bail Forces Taken From Beaver County Bridge.

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Under a temporary injunction issued by the court the Central District Printing Telegraph Company has taken on its force of men from the county bridge over Beaver river, where they had a riot yesterday. No further trouble is expected, but officers are still on guard.

Christian Endeavor Changed. The meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian Church which was to have been held at the home of Earl Bennett on Eleventh street, this evening, has been changed to the church parlor on South Pittsburgh street owing to sickness in Mr. Bennett's family.

SEEIN' THINGS.

Star Junction Foreigner Had a Hallowe'en Celebration Brought on By Flowing Bowl.

"There's a hundred men in here drinking beer and not a single bottle for me," yelled Andy Donomoch, a Star Junction foreigner as he pounded the bars of cell No. 12 at the lockup last night. This morning he was still walling, but this time there were spectators in his cell who were shooting at him. Andy had a bad case of delirium tremens, and the police think his mind affected. He was arraigned on Pittsburg street last evening by Officer John A. Lowe as a suspected person at Star Junction and they are expected to send for him today.

Jake Caldwell, who lives in Saltlick township, celebrated Hallowe'en by accumulating a most beautiful jag. Jake could not tell Acting Burgess Porter just where he lived in the township as there is no town at this time. He was given 45 hours. Dan Hayes of Buffalo was arrested for drunkenness and got 48 hours. Burgess Soloson was intoxicated this morning and could not attend the hearings.

Quail Season Opens. The quail season in Pennsylvania comes in today. There are some birds in the Young region, but as a rule they are small. Several local platters went out this morning.

Noon Weather Forecast. Rain tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight and colder Saturday afternoon, is the noon weather forecast.

SCOTSDALE'S NIGHT.

Hallowe'en Was Observed by a Bigger Show Than Last Year.

HUNDREDS WERE OUT EARLY.

A Travelling Foreign Bank Pulled in for Spitting on the Sidewalk—Water and Gas for West Scottdale.

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 11.—Great was the celebration of Hallowe'en, that brought hundreds of people out on Pittsburgh street Thursday evening to laugh at the revelry of a couple hundreds of men, women and boys who were garbed in masks and grotesque costumes. It was all laughable and good natured fun and the people both on the sidewalk and in the street enjoyed themselves immensely. This is the second Hallowe'en in which this kind of fun has been in the popular mind, and it was all a great improvement over last year's farce. It is certain that next year will see a better organized and larger observance of the evening. As a consequence of the fun, which was suggested by Burgess William Ferguson last night, there was a very pronounced disturbance of any kind of pranks as the destruction of property such as obtained in past years. Surplus energy was worked off in the street carnival. Homer Milliron's band was out and led the crowd up and down the street several times in a most obliging way that added quite a good deal to the interest. The crowd was orderly and the men, women and children who simply stood and watched the merry-making were all in hearty sympathy with it.

There were several social events in town that were well attended later in the evening. Among them was the entertaining of the Y. W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. C. A. Colburn, where Mrs. Colburn showed herself the excellent hostess that she always is at these annual events of the "Y's." Then the Misses Miller of Market street entertained at a fancy masked party at which there were many beautiful and unique costumes. The Tyne Club at Byersville also entertained at one of their delightful dances, at which were present a number of guests from various towns.

Chief of Police Frank McCudden arrested a travelling foreign bank on Thursday afternoon, a gentleman just making preparations to go to the old country, but who was so careless as to expectorate on the sidewalk, a pleasure which costs $1 in Scottdale. As the fellow was being taken to the lock-up, since he refused to part with a dollar, he protested that he had no job and no money. When searched he was found to have forgotten the little matter of 49 $10 bills and 4 $20 bills, a total of the insignificant sum of $540. Even then the foreigner refused to let go of a one-spot. He was placed behind the bars, and after at tempting for a while to tear them down and whooping and hollering like the proverbial Indian, he at last consented to bid farewell to the one-spot. Four other foreigners were gathered in under the anti-spitting act and arrested.

There was no clue found to the burglars who went through F. E. Leltz's store early Thursday morning. Some suspects were arrested and "searched" and their rooms searched, but nothing was found to warrant holding them.

The Fayette Gas Company is laying a main out from Dick Freitz beyond the White school house to Sanford Ruffcorn's, and the people of that thriving locality will soon be enjoying gas for fuel and light. The gas line is laid in one of the roadside ditches and fills it up so that its mission as a water table is about at an end, which, however, is not important since the roads in the township are permitted to carry the most of the water on their surface. The Citizens' Water Company has been canvassing that locality to see if they cannot make it possible to supply the people alone there. With water and gas the road beyond the White school house will have nearly a town value. Several handsome places have been built along there and it is quite a popular one with home builders. J. Arthur Wilson is completing a large and handsome brick dwelling with all the modern improvements, and some more houses are being planned for it in the near future.

Miss Louise St. Germaine, pianist, will be at the Central Hotel Monday. She has read the hands of many famous persons and is acknowledged to be among the most noted pianists in America.

PURITY WORK.

National Congress Discusses It at the Second Day's Session.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—There was an increased attendance of delegates this morning when the National Purity Congress began its second day's session. The forenoon was devoted to business, including the consideration of the reports from the Finance, Educational and "White Slave" Committees. The program arranged for the afternoon session provided for papers and addresses as follows: "The Pulpit and Purity," Rev. A. Pohlman, D. D., Philadelphia; "Race Murder," Dr. Rudolph Holmes, Chicago; "Purity Instruction in the Home," Mrs. Abdon E. Smith, Albion, Wis.

Anthony Comstock of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, and Mrs. Florence Kelly, General Secretary of the National Consumers' League, are scheduled as the principal speakers this evening.

LAST DAY.

Y. M. C. A. Must Get 90 Applications
For Membership This Evening.

The workers in the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign are given the privilege of holding back their applications till tonight and some evidently availed themselves of the privilege, as only 15 names were handed in yesterday. That means that 90 must be turned in today or the campaign fails. All the officers, directors, trustees and members are appealed to in the fight today to make sure of success. Surely the good people of Connellsville, now so gay and merrily will not see the movement fall when so near realization. Victory is just within the grasp of the energetic workers and failure would be a shame after the tremendous effort put forth.

All the citizens of the community are urged to take hold and help. Telephone your membership into the Y. M. C. A., or mail it, or get a worker to take your membership. It is the appeal of the committee today. Officers of the association are still sanguine and believe that victory will crown the effort at last. But 90 are a good many to get in a day. But it will only come if all will help. All members of the association are requested to come to the win-up tonight at the Y. M. C. A. building. Special invitation is given to all new members to be present. Every road will lead to the association tonight. Nothing can interfere with the enthusiasm of the workers. The workers cannot be suppressed and their enthusiasm will not be quenched.

Those added yesterday are: James M. Sombower, Martin Williams, Percy B. Neff, John Hart, Arthur Alfred Clark, George E. Brown, R. W. Leiberger, Daniel W. Kerner, John H. Moore, W. F. Lutz, Rockwell Marlette, Bert S. Forsythe, Percy Reed Shantz, William H. Thomas, Harry Lantz, James C. Baumer, Kenneth W. Nor, Tony Martin, William Lewis Neff, Bernard D. Hetrick.

KNOCKS FAIRBANKS.

Senator Beveridge Reported to Have Said Roosevelt Must Be Nominated in Order to Win.

Special to The Courier.—WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Albert J. Beveridge, Senator from Indiana, and self-appointed "cockney" of the administration, landed in Washington this week. He scarcely had settled himself before he was reported to have kicked the Fairbanks boom on the sly by saying that unless President Roosevelt was nominated by the Republicans next year, William Jennings Bryan would be the next President. Senator Beveridge was careful to say, according to reports, that he had given his pledge to support Vice President Fairbanks in his candidacy for the nomination, but personally his conviction was that the Republican party would go down to defeat unless Mr. Roosevelt headed the ticket. This view of the situation is not held by Mr. Beveridge alone, and it is neither new nor especially interesting, except for the fact that it is the extreme lukewarmness of the Vice President's backers.

As viewed from Washington, the Fairbanks boom might just as well be put in cold storage. While the situation is extremely muddled and it is impossible to say which one of the Presidential possibilities is showing the greatest strength, there is little doubt that Mr. Fairbanks' cause is lost. In any event, Senator Beveridge's statement will not advance the ambitions of the Vice President.

MICHIGAN-VANDERBILT GAME

It is Creating Much Interest in Southern College Circles.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The keenest interest is being manifested in tomorrow's football game between Vanderbilt University and the University of Michigan. It will be the most important gridiron contest in the South this year and one of the most important to be played anywhere in the country.

While the odds generally favor the Michigan eleven, Vanderbilt has an unusually strong team this season and the good showing made against Arkansas and other teams has increased confidence in the Commodores. It is expected that the contest will be witnessed by the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in this part of the country.

Peanut Growers' Convention.
SUFFOLK, Va., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The Peanut Growers' Association of the Virginia and North Carolina belt, which is said to produce seven-eighths of the world's crop, held a largely attended meeting here today.

Shoppers Matinee Daily at Bijou,
2:30 to 5:30. Adults 10c, children 5c.

The Edge of Winter is Here

Cold winter and storms are headed this way, wet feet and cold will be the lot of the unprepared ones. We have sturdy but properly shaped shoes that defy the elements. No dampness can penetrate them. No one can criticize their style, they combine strength with fashion, comfort with durability.

OFFICERS ELECTED

For Two Classes in Sunday School of Christian Church.

ONE OF THEM NEWLY ORGANIZED

It is Connected With the Baracca Movement and Contest With Young Ladies' Class Has Been Arranged. Losing Class to Dine Winner.

At the home of Mrs. W. S. Colborn on North Pittsburg street, Wednesday evening the young ladies class of the Christian Sunday school, of which she is teacher, met and organized. Miss Edna Strickler was made President; Miss Katherine Bowman, Vice President; Miss Stella Moreland, Secretary; Miss Margaret, Treasurer. A pleasant evening was spent socially.

At the same time the young men's class of the school met in the pastor's study and organized Class No. 13. The names of the class seemed to be providentially directed. The first call was made on the thirteenth of October by sending postals to thirteen young men. A few present the first Sunday meant an offering of thirteen cents. At a meeting Wednesday thirteen were present. The class organized with the following officers: Clifford Edmonds, President; Kenneth Norton, Vice President; Ralph Hyatt, Secretary; James Bennett, Treasurer.

Class No. 13 will be officially connected with the Baracca movement among young men. The young ladies adopted as their name "Philippa" and will be officially related to the movement. A pleasant evening was spent socially.

SCHOOL REPORT.

Statistics for the Second Month of the Different Rooms Out in Dunbar Township.

The second month of the Dunbar township schools closed Friday, October 25. Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Women of Two States Are in Session at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—With a large attendance of delegates and visitors, the Young Women's Christian Association of Ohio and West Virginia began a three days' conference here today as guests of the Cincinnati City and Cincinnati University Associations. An unusually attractive and interesting program has been arranged for the gathering.

Prominent speakers to be heard include President Henry Churchill King of Oberlin College, Dr. Graham Taylor of the Institute of Social Science of Chicago and Dr. Edward Mack of the Lane Theological Seminary of Cincinnati.

EIGHTEEN ROOSEVELTS.

Change of Name of Stamboul, La., Postoffice Is Latest in the Department.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—With the change of name of Stamboul, La., the United States will have 18 postoffices named Roosevelt. Roosevelt is to be found in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Georgia, Idaho, Kentucky, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah, Washington and West Virginia. If the popularity of Presidents, however, can be measured by the practice of naming new towns after them, Grover Cleveland probably is the most popular President ever in the White House since Washington's time. Twenty-eight postoffices are named after him while 41 are named for Harrison, and 13 each for McKinley and Arthur. In addition there are three Cleveland counties and eight Harrison counties in different States, and there is one McKinley county and one Roosevelt county, both in New Mexico.

When it is changing the name Stamboul, La., to Roosevelt the Postoffice Department will see to it that Stamboul, Pa., is eliminated from the postal rolls. Some months ago a wag in Venango county petitioned the department to establish a postoffice just off the line of a railroad and asked that it be tagged with the "23" sign. As no other name was suggested, Stamboul went through in the rush of business. Recently there have been a number of complaints about the name, so it will be abolished.

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT.

Roosevelt's Successor the Subject of Much Speculation.

Who will be our next President? Will Taft, or Hughes, or Bryan, or Hearst be the next occupant of the White House? Volumes will be written on this subject and before the next election men and women all over the land will spend days and nights in discussing this all important question. In the meantime, there is another live subject that should not be overlooked—the importance of providing for your own future, no matter who holds down the Presidential chair. A Savings Account is the best way to do it, and the First National Bank, the oldest and strongest National Bank in Connellsville, is the best place to have your account. There it will be absolutely safe and will earn 4 per cent. interest.

An Appeal to Reason.

There isn't the slightest use in paying more than we charge for prescriptions when we give you exactly what is ordered by your physician, and give you the highest quality it is possible to obtain in drugs and chemicals used in that prescription.

You may pay more but you can't get it any better. You may pay less but you take great chances. It is no time to go hunting for a bargain when you want a prescription put up. This is not a bargain counter drug store. We charge a fair price for the best it is possible to obtain.

It pays us. It will pay you.

A Broad Hint to Newly-Weds From the Kiddos.

You young married folks, above all others, ought to investigate our proposition to furnish your home completely and immediately, accepting our payment each week or month "in little bits" according to your resources.

Apply business principles to your buying, just as we do. We buy our goods in enormous quantities, getting the benefit of the lowest market price on highest class goods. If we bought a little at a time, we would have to pay dearly for it.

If you can furnish your home a little at a time, you cannot get such price advantages as though you bought a complete outfit at once. The outfit plan is the most comfortable, too, for your home is fully equipped, not just half-way.

Our sole object in publishing this little talk is to get you to INVESTIGATE. If we cannot prove to your satisfaction that we can undersell any other house—why, then, you are under no obligation to buy. It's extremely simple.

His Courtship

By HELEN R. MARTIN.
Author of "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid."

Copyright, 1907, by McClure, Phillips & Company.

"Do you want to know what he thinks of me?" she asked, her voice vibrating with suppressed bitterness. "Do you think so poorly of me as to believe me capable of marrying him?"

Her hopeless tone implied that he could think no worse. Mrs. Morningstar was dumfounded. Such a view of Abe was incomprehensible. And that it should be held by this girl whom she scorned, seemed past belief. And yet, deep down in her heart she knew that Eunice spoke sincerely; that passing strange as it seemed, she actually did not want so marry him; that if that $5,000 was to remain in the family, she must stoop to coax him. She cast this painful girl, her sister, to marry her. It was a bitter humiliation.

She began at first diplomatically. She said that of course they wouldn't leave their adopted daughter go penniless to her husband and that if she did marry him she would give her a nice purse full of money—up in the hundreds.

But Eunice did not rise to the bait. Then the woman humbled herself. "Let us talk of it no more," Eunice gently begged, feeling utterly exhausted after a half hour of the futile discussion. "It is of no avail to talk."

Mrs. Morningstar tried then to laugh herself into a rage and uphold her obstinacy, but she found herself strangely tongue-tied. This girl who calmly refused to obey her, who used as "high language" as if she were "book-learned" and who didn't think Abe good enough for her, in place of the contempt with which she had always treated her she found herself inspired almost with a sense of awe before her and certainly with a novel feeling of respect.

When at last Eunice left her for the night Mrs. Morningstar, having entirely failed in her commission, wondered as she took her lamp to go upstairs what "pop" would say of her failure and whether the girl's attitude would leave him as dumfounded as it had left her.

CHAPTER XX.
KINROSS' daughter, Newport brought an immediate reply. Miss Wolcott was at her summer home and would be there until late in the autumn.

He had time on his journey to reflect upon the episodes of the past few days with comparative coolness of judgment and to see some things with more clearness than on a first view, and the various developments of the summer appeared in somewhat different perspective now that he looked at them from a little distance.

"If I went to that farm to find seclusion, quiet, to mope, that would leave me free to study, and what I got into—plots and counterplots, with sonnet couplets, disguises, a stolen infant, haunted chambers, murders, suicides, ghosts and a discovered heiress! Who'd a thought it? I couldn't have found half so much excitement at Newport. Why, it's been a strain!"

He had been told before leaving the farm that his fellow boarders were to go back to town before his return. When he had paid his board Mrs. Morningstar, under the effect of his extra fees for her consulting in his dispute, had thrown so far as to volunteer the promise that she would accompany him to the young ladies for his departure by saying that the farmhouse had been discharged because of the inconvenient and uncongenial agency of his headstache. He wondered whether in his absence any accidental hints would be dropped as to his pretended character. He could not think without a growing uneasiness of the fast approaching reopening of the college, when he would have to meet Miss Elmyer and Miss Parks as the Kinross of the faculty.

It was when he was nearing the end of his journey that some indignant apprehensions which had been vaguely troubling him began to assume definite shape and the realization dawned on him that perhaps he had been rash in coming away and leaving Eunice in ignorance, even for a week, of her possible good fortune. Goodness knows what she might do in this week of his absence. Abe was evidently very desperate in love with her, and the Morningstars, in their dire straits at being obliged to pay over to her that $5,000, might drive her to the point of marrying him in self defense, as it were. Of course it was only her utter ignorance of life that made her tolerate Abe, though even that did not seem to excuse such and such. Eunice, Miss Wolcott's niece, never absent from his mind for an instant. At times he felt that he was going on a fool's errand. If, at the time this Daniel came to her, she had not even tried to write to him, she had not even tried to be the child to prove or disprove their story, how could he hope that now, after all these years, she would concede what was so much against her own interests?

"If only I were a diplomat instead of a blunt, plain man I might lead up to my story so prettily and persuasively that before she knew it she'd be burning to marry me!"

ing to illustrate artistically the beauty of self sacrifice to her own person. But I know I'll make a muddle of it. 'Your money or your life?' That's more my style, more's the pity!"

He consoled himself with the reflection that if Eunice did not come into the money it would probably be far better for her, and it was only by reason of his sense of justice that he was trying to place her in command of the great wealth that belonged to her. He himself was remarkably free from the money madness of the age. He had always had more than enough for his needs, but not enough to spoil him, and therefore gone through life, thus far, escaping the mania for accumulating wealth.

"Her money may quite spoil the attractiveness she now has in her simplicity, her perfect naturalness when she is alone with her. Just the antipodes of Georgian! There couldn't be a more extreme contrast of character. Georgian is a personified pose. If she ever did a spontaneous thing in her presence, ever made an unguarded remark, I think I'd fall in love with her on the spot!"

It was at 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon that he presented himself at the home of Miss Wolcott. He sent in his card and waited on the piazza which was furnished like a sitting room and shaded by screens from the hot summer sun. His suspense as to the outcome of the impending interview made him too uneasy to sit still, and he paced the long porch in his nervousness wondering for the hundredth time how he could most advantageously relate his story and trying to school himself against too great bluntness in the delicate matter he had to handle. He rather took it out of the porch furniture before Miss Wolcott made her appearance for in standing about he pushed things ruthlessly out of his way, nearly upsetting a spindle-legged table holding a slender vase of roses and making a stool noisily collide with another table covered with books and magazines.

A sudden swirl of skirts in the doorway made him turn about at the end of the porch and come back quickly to meet the uncomfortably stout little woman who walked forward to greet him.

Though Miss Wolcott was gowned in the simplest of white material she looked overhauled. Her complexion was distressingly florid her movements were ungraceful and her voice had an unpleasant sharpness. Kinross felt his already faint hopes fade and he realized the general hardness of her aspect. He placed his case upon what he believed the recognized in her countenance. In spite of its coldness an upright sense of character that perhaps justified, some what, her pride of blood!

"It is good to see you again, Dr. Kinross," she began as they sat down together. "It is always a pleasure to me to meet old friends. Did you know," she continued volubly. "I had a call from your brother one day last winter, when he had run on to Washington from New York—it was on one of my home days and of course he marked a lot of his old friends—and he remarked as he was leaving how pleasant it had been to meet them. I told him he would never meet me with my present acquaintances at my house. In my circle we don't meet the new people fortunately."

This was a good beginning certainly. But what a tragic deprivation to the new people! He remarked, with a perfunctory smile intended to take the edge off his sarcasm.

"I am aware she said stiffly, that you don't share my own feelings about such things."

"No," he said, "I'd associate with the devil if I found him interesting."

"Such bohemian views are unworthy of your blood," she said with reproachfulness. "I hope you don't go so far as to be willing to marry out of your rank?"

"No, I draw the line there. I'm not willing to marry out of my rank—not yet in it. I'm quite unwilling to marry at all."

"You haven't been an easy prey," she admitted. "How have you managed to escape falling in love all these years?"

"But love hasn't anything to do with rank—if you'll pardon my platitudes."

"No one, man or woman need necessarily fail in love outside of his own station in life," she said dogmatically, "or if he is so weak let him conquer himself."

Kinross smiled and was silent. He didn't want to argue.

Miss Wolcott abruptly changed the subject.

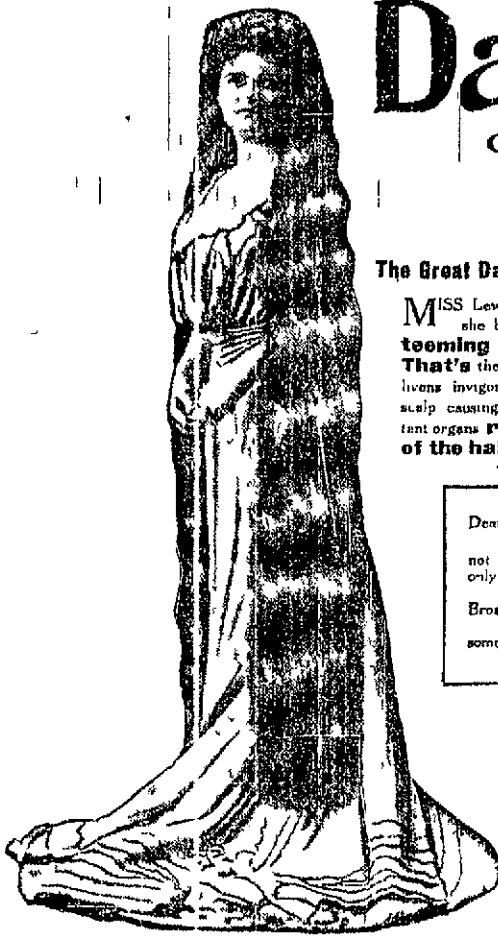

"Well, Peter, what is this important business matter which gives me the pleasure of a call from you? Your telegram has made me very curious. I don't know how to wait until you get here."

"But you must wait a few moments longer. I must not be precipitate. That's the one thing I've been telling myself all the way here—not to be precipitate, but to break it to you gently, to lead up to it diplomatically, rhetorically, if possible. Unfortunately my style was ever a cookbook—direct and to the point."

"Dear me! Well do adhere to your customary style and spare me the rhetoric. I prefer to hear your news or whatever it is in your most Saxon form."

"The shock might be too great!"

This was not at all as he had meant

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR AND WE CAN PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She now has long hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor.

That's the main secret of this great remedy—success as a hair grower. It invigorates and feeds the hair glands and tissues of the scalp causing unusual and unheard of activity on a part of these two most important organs resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter

Dear Doctor Knowlton—
January 9, 1905
You know I told you in my first letter that my hair was not much longer than my shoulders and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I'm doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a whole-some medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25-cent bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all drug stores in three sizes,
25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who has the good sense to send us a return address. (Chicago, Ill.) their names and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

for 12 Years

effect a cure after everything else failed.

It took Mrs. James H. Titus of 107 Clinton St., Warren, Pa., many years to realize that there was only one way to cure nervous dyspepsia. That all the diet, the medicine, and the treatment would do her no good, and that the only way was to first get the nervous system into perfect working order so that the food might be properly handled and digested. She says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are just splendid. My nervous system is now in perfect working order, and I am able to eat and digest everything I want to. I feel like a new woman, and I am able to do all the work I want to. I feel like a new woman, and I am able to do all the work I want to."

American Bridge Company Turns Out 23,000 Finished Tons

American Bridge Company Turns Out 23,000 Finished Tons
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—(Special).—All records at the bridge plant of the American Bridge Company were broken by the October output. About 23,000 tons of finished product were turned out compared to 21,000 tons last October.

When the plant was first put in operation it was thought 15,000 tons was a heavy output.

Manager Crawford Inaugurates a Popular Move at the Bijou for Little Folks

William Crawford manager of the Bijou theatre will give a special matinee for children tomorrow afternoon and all children attending this matinee will be presented with a beautiful souvenir in remembrance of the pleasant entertainment. The first performance will commence at 1 o'clock and the second at 3 o'clock. Mr. Crawford is inaugurating a school children's matinee which starts at 1 and 4 o'clock every day giving the children an opportunity to see the performance without interfering with their studies at night.

The admission will be 5 cents for children at the machine and the general admission for adults will be 10 cents. Mr Crawford's policy will be just the same as heretofore and you can see the best in the vaudeville line and never be afraid of anything that would offend the most fastidious.
